Israel Deaf Sports Organisation

<http://www.israeldeafsport.org>

Israel Deaf Sports Organisation (IDSO) was founded in 1953 by deaf veterans and immigrants who were involved in sports activities especially for the deaf in Israel and abroad, Upon immigration to Israel it was decided to set up a network that would enable the deaf community in the country to enjoy sports activities on equal terms through unified communication – the Israeli sign language. The organization also enables the deaf from all the parts of the country to participate in various sports within a special society where they can communicate with each other. This is the organization of the deaf for their sake: to develop sports in the community for everyone regardless of age. Advancement of sports is supported by the opportunity to participate in the country as well as the leagues and tournaments and also abroad by high caliber athletes representing Israel. The sports activities are open to all deaf citizens of all races, creed and gender.

Tel Aviv-Jaffa "White City"

<http://www.tel-aviv.gov.il>

Tel Aviv is a metropolitan center of finance, culture and trade of Israel. Tel Aviv is the first Jewish city founded by the Zionists as a Jewish settlement outside the old city of Jaffa and has a population of around 400,000 people. It is bustling with life 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The city is the cultural heart of Israel. The city has many cultural and entertainment centres where a large percentage of Israeli cultural and spiritual people, communication people and film stars is found here in the city.

Tel Aviv's coast, which is about 14 kilometres long on the Mediterranean Sea, provides a central component to the lives of Tel Aviv's residents and is considered as a beach city. A big part of the coastline is also used for leisure activities open to the public, such as bathing beaches, long walkways and parks.

Tel Aviv metropolitan is especially known as the technological centre of international caliber, and is also known as Silicon Wadi all over the world. Over the years, many international technology-oriented companies chose to set up their plants and offices here.

In the city there are several tourist sites, but a large number of tourists coming to the city also find the city useful for business activities or convenient as a base for them to travel to other parts of the country. The most important tourist site in Tel Aviv is the continuous beach. Along the beaches are many high-class hotels, residential buildings and offices. Additional tourist attractions are Old Jaffa, Neve Zedek, and "White City", which UNESCO has authorised as an important cultural centre because of many surviving Bauhaus residences.
